

Stewardship
'stü-ərd-ship NOUN

1.the conducting, supervising, and responsible management of something entrusted to one's care

Leadership as Stewardship

Leadership as Stewardship

Leadership as Stewardship

Traditional leadership forms are hierarchical and exclude a wider circle of participation and contribution. Old power dynamics seep back in, even with the best of intentions. An alternative form is the use of rotating stewards teams focused on sustaining the network, combined with ad hoc action teams led by person(s) with the passion and skill needed to execute the action path.